Inconsistent Lead Flow Despite Strong Demand

Hi Dominique,

Dominique mentioned it directly: the inquiries arrive in waves.

This paragraph exists to verify lowercase i renders correctly: initial, invisible, identification, individual.

Below is the full breakdown of what I'm proposing, scope, timelines, and pricing. If you have any questions, reach out to me at +1 (646) 641-3173 or team@rsla.io

Thanks,
Rahul L.

A System That Runs Itself

Here's what I'd build for you.

Website, ads, and reviews working as one machine.

I've built systems like this before, and I know what works here. If I didn't, I wouldn't have put this proposal together.

Scope of Work

Here's what you're getting:

- Complete website rebuild
- Monthly rotating service
- Monthly strategy calls

With your input and our execution, this gets done right. [1]

Timelines

Here's what the timeline looks like. I'm building in a buffer because I'd rather deliver early than promise something I can't hit.

- Website live in 2 to 3 weeks
- Marketing starts right after

I'd rather underpromise and overdeliver. This gives me the room to make sure every piece is done right. [2]

NOTES

1. This scope does not include items not explicitly listed above.
2. Ongoing monthly services (Ads, GBP Optimization, SEO) operate on a rolling basis and are not bound to fixed delivery dates. Fixed timelines above apply to project and build deliverables in this proposal.
3. This proposal and the pricing in it are valid until July 13, 2026. After that date, pricing and availability may change.

Master Services Agreement

Prepared for: Dominique Norris, Brightline Test Co

This Master Services Agreement and Service Level Agreement (the "Agreement") is entered into and effective as of June 13, 2026 (the "Effective Date"), by and between:

RSL/A LLC, a New York limited liability company ("RSL/A," the "Company," or the "Service Provider"),

Dominique Norris, Brightline Test Co (the "Client").

RSL/A and the Client are each a "Party" and together the "Parties." This Agreement is incorporated into and forms part of the Proposal it accompanies. The Proposal sets the commercial specifics (scope, deliverables, timelines, and price); this Agreement sets the legal terms, protections, and service commitments that govern the engagement and any future engagement between the Parties, unless a new agreement expressly replaces it.

1. Definitions

"Proposal" means the RSL/A proposal document presented to and accepted by the Client, including the scope of work, deliverables, timelines, and investment amounts described in it, as amended by any Change Order.

"Services" means all work performed by RSL/A under the Proposal and this Agreement, including any website, search, automation, advertising, AI, or other services described in the Proposal or a Change Order.

"Deliverables" means the specific work product RSL/A agrees to produce for the Client under the Proposal, whether built within the Client's own platform accounts or otherwise delivered to the Client.

"Client Materials" means all content, data, logins, credentials, brand assets, contact lists, and other materials the Client provides or makes accessible to RSL/A for use in the Services.

"RSL/A Materials" means RSL/A's pre-existing and proprietary methods, frameworks, code libraries, reusable templates, internal tools, and know-how, together with any improvements to them, that are not developed exclusively for the Client.

"Change Order" means a written authorization (including by email) confirmed by both Parties that adds to or modifies the Services, with any associated change in price or timeline.

"Third-Party Platform" means any software, service, API, advertising network, or platform not owned by RSL/A that is used to deliver, host, or operate the Services, including but not limited to GoHighLevel, HouseCall Pro, Zapier, Meta, Google, Stripe, and any AI model provider.

2. Structure of the Agreement

- The Proposal defines the scope, deliverables, timelines, and investment for the specific engagement, including any pricing option or package the Client selects.
- Where the Proposal presents multiple pricing options, only the option the Client selects (in writing or by paying the corresponding first payment) becomes part of the engagement; unselected options expire with the Proposal's validity period.
- Change Orders modify the Proposal for additional or altered work. A Change Order does not replace this Agreement; this Agreement continues to govern the changed Services.

In the event of a conflict, the order of precedence is: (a) a fully confirmed Change Order, then (b) this Agreement, then (c) the Proposal, except that a provision of the Proposal overrides this Agreement where the Proposal expressly identifies the section of this Agreement it overrides.

3. Scope of Services

- The specific Services, Deliverables, and systems for the engagement are defined in the Proposal.
- The scope does not include any item not expressly listed in the Proposal or in a confirmed Change Order. Anything outside the stated scope is a new request handled under the Change Orders section.
- RSL/A may determine the methods, tools, and sequence used to perform the Services, provided the agreed Deliverables are met.

4. Phased Engagement Structure

Where the Proposal divides the engagement into phases, each phase is independently scoped and billed. The Client is under no obligation to proceed to a later phase, and completion of one phase does not commit the Client to any future phase. If the Client elects not to proceed after a completed phase, all Deliverables from completed phases remain the Client's property (subject to full payment for those phases), and no fees are owed for phases not yet started.

5. Custom, Recurring, and Evolving Services

RSL/A's Services vary by client and may include one-time project work, recurring monthly services, and custom builds scoped specifically for the Client. This Agreement governs all such arrangements.

Recurring services. Where the Proposal describes ongoing services (such as advertising management, SEO, Google Business Profile optimization, automation maintenance, or AI agent maintenance), those services renew on the cycle stated in the Proposal (monthly unless stated otherwise) and continue until terminated under the Term and Termination section. Recurring services operate on a rolling basis and are not bound to fixed delivery dates.

Custom work. Where RSL/A produces bespoke systems for the Client, the description of that work in the Proposal or Change Order controls what is included. Custom work is subject to the same ownership, warranty, and liability terms as all other Services.

New service lines. If the Client engages RSL/A for a service not contemplated in the original Proposal, the Parties will document it in a Change Order or a new Proposal, and this Agreement will govern it automatically unless the Parties agree otherwise in writing.

6. Client Responsibilities

The Client agrees to:

- Provide access to all required platforms, accounts, credentials, and API keys within five (5) business days of each phase start;
- Supply accurate, complete, and lawful business information and Client Materials as reasonably requested;
- Review and approve Deliverables within three (3) business days of submission, unless otherwise agreed;
- Maintain a human escalation path for all AI-facing interactions deployed as part of the Services;
- Monitor and review AI agent behavior in production, including chatbot responses, automated messages, and voice agent interactions; and
- Hold and maintain all rights, licenses, and consents necessary for RSL/A to perform the Services using the Client Materials.

Delays in providing access, approvals, or information extend the affected timeline day-for-day. If required access, approvals, or information are not provided within fifteen (15) business days of request, RSL/A may treat the affected Deliverables as complete, re-scope the engagement, and proceed to the next phase, without prejudice to RSL/A's right to payment. If the Client is unresponsive to RSL/A's communications for thirty (30) consecutive days, RSL/A may treat the engagement as abandoned and terminate it under the Term and Termination section; fees for the current phase and for work in progress remain due.

7. Acceptance of Deliverables

When RSL/A submits a Deliverable, the Client will review it within three (3) business days and either approve it or provide a single, consolidated written list of specific items that do not conform to the agreed scope. RSL/A will correct confirmed defects and resubmit. If the Client does not respond within the review period, or if the Client begins using the Deliverable in production, the Deliverable is deemed accepted. Acceptance does not waive the Client's rights under the Warranty section.

8. Change Orders

Any work requested outside the original scope requires a written Change Order with separate pricing, confirmed by both Parties. Verbal requests, casual messages, or informal correspondence do not authorize additional work. RSL/A may adjust timelines to accommodate an approved Change Order and is not obligated to begin changed work until the Change Order is confirmed.

9. Fees, Investment, and Payment

- Investment amounts are set out in the Proposal.
- Each phase payment is due in advance of the applicable phase start, unless otherwise agreed in writing. Recurring service fees are due in advance of each recurring cycle.
- All fees for completed phases and for work in progress are non-refundable, and no prorated refunds are provided for completed or in-progress phases or recurring cycles.
- If project completion is delayed by the Client's inaction, the current phase payment remains due upon RSL/A's completion of its deliverable work, regardless of Client-side delays.
- Unless the Proposal states that fees are inclusive of tax, all fees are exclusive of, and the Client is responsible for, any sales, use, or similar taxes properly chargeable on the Services (other than taxes on RSL/A's net income).

10. Payment Authorization and Recurring Billing

Where the Client provides a credit card, debit card, or bank account (ACH) as the payment method:

- The Client authorizes RSL/A and its payment processor (currently Stripe) to charge that payment method for the amounts and on the schedule stated in the Proposal, including recurring fees in advance of each recurring cycle, approved Change Order amounts, and late charges permitted under this Agreement.
- This authorization remains in effect until the engagement ends or the Client provides a replacement payment method, whichever is later. The Client will keep its payment method current and will promptly update expired or replaced cards or closed accounts.
- If a charge fails, RSL/A may retry the payment method, and the fee remains due. Failed payments are treated as late payments under the Late Payment and Suspension section.
- RSL/A will give the Client at least five (5) business days' written notice before charging any amount that differs from the amounts and schedule previously disclosed in the Proposal, a confirmed Change Order, or a fee-adjustment notice under this Agreement.
- Receipts and billing records are delivered electronically to the email address on file.

11. Chargebacks and Billing Disputes

The Parties agree that billing disputes will be raised and resolved under this Agreement before any payment-network dispute is initiated.

- If the Client believes any charge is incorrect, the Client will notify RSL/A in writing at team@rsla.io within ten (10) business days of the charge and allow RSL/A ten (10) business days to respond, and the Parties will work in good faith to resolve the issue promptly, including by credit or refund where RSL/A determines one is owed.
- The Client agrees not to initiate a chargeback, payment reversal, or ACH dispute for any charge made in accordance with this Agreement and the Proposal. Initiating such a dispute for a properly authorized charge is a material breach of this Agreement.
- If a chargeback or reversal is initiated for a properly authorized charge, the Client remains responsible for the underlying fee and will reimburse RSL/A for chargeback fees, processing penalties, and reasonable costs (including reasonable attorneys' fees) RSL/A incurs responding to the dispute, to the extent permitted by law.
- RSL/A may suspend the Services immediately while a payment-network dispute over a properly authorized charge is pending, and any license granted to affected Deliverables does not take effect (or is suspended) until the disputed amounts are resolved and paid.
- Nothing in this section limits the Client's right to dispute charges that were not authorized under this Agreement.

12. Fee Adjustments for Recurring Services

RSL/A may adjust the fees for recurring services by giving at least thirty (30) days' written notice, with the new fees taking effect at the start of the next recurring cycle after the notice period. If the Client does not accept the adjusted fees, the Client may terminate the affected recurring service by written notice effective before the new fees take effect, and the prior fees apply through the termination date. Fees for a phase already paid are never adjusted retroactively.

13. Third-Party Costs and Advertising Spend

Unless the Proposal expressly states otherwise, RSL/A's fees do not include third-party costs, and the Client is solely responsible for paying them directly or reimbursing RSL/A where RSL/A has agreed to advance them. Third-party costs include advertising spend paid to platforms such as Meta or Google, subscription or license fees for Third-Party Platforms, domain and hosting fees, API or usage-based charges (including AI model usage), and similar pass-through costs. RSL/A does not mark up advertising spend, does not guarantee any result from it, and the Client controls and approves its own advertising budgets.

14. Late Payment and Suspension

- Late or failed payments may result in suspension of the Services until resolved. RSL/A may pause work if any invoice or scheduled payment is unpaid for more than seven (7) business days.
- Overdue balances accrue a late charge of one and one-half percent (1.5%) per month (eighteen percent (18%) per year), or the maximum rate permitted by applicable law if lower, beginning fifteen (15) days after the due date.
- If the Services are suspended for non-payment, RSL/A may require payment of all outstanding amounts before resuming work and may charge a reactivation fee of $250 to cover the cost of re-engaging the project. Suspension does not relieve the Client of fees that accrue during the suspension period, and the term of any affected service is not extended by the suspension.
- In any action or proceeding to collect undisputed amounts due under this Agreement, the prevailing party may recover its reasonable attorneys' fees and costs of collection, to the extent permitted by law.

15. Independent Contractor Relationship

RSL/A performs the Services as an independent contractor. Nothing in this Agreement creates an employment, partnership, joint venture, agency, or fiduciary relationship between the Parties. Neither Party may bind the other or incur obligations on the other's behalf. Each Party is responsible for its own taxes, insurance, and personnel.

16. Subcontractors and Staffing

RSL/A may use employees, contractors, or subcontractors to perform any part of the Services. RSL/A remains responsible for the performance of its subcontractors under this Agreement and for ensuring they are bound by confidentiality obligations at least as protective as those in this Agreement.

17. Ownership and Intellectual Property

- Upon full payment for the applicable Services, all Deliverables built within the Client's own platform accounts (including workflows, automations, custom fields, pipelines, templates, and AI agent configurations) are the Client's property.
- RSL/A retains all right, title, and interest in the RSL/A Materials. Nothing transfers ownership of the RSL/A Materials to the Client.
- To the extent any RSL/A Materials are embedded in a Deliverable, RSL/A grants the Client a non-exclusive, perpetual, worldwide license to use those RSL/A Materials solely as part of, and to operate, that Deliverable.
- The Client retains all right, title, and interest in the Client Materials and grants RSL/A a limited license to use them only as needed to perform the Services.

- Until full payment is received, RSL/A retains all rights in the affected Deliverables, and any license granted under this section does not take effect for those Deliverables.

Both Parties acknowledge that Deliverables may incorporate Third-Party Platform features that are subject to those platforms' own terms of service.

18. Portfolio and Publicity Rights

RSL/A may identify the Client as a client and may describe the Services and non-confidential, general results in RSL/A's portfolio, website, case studies, and marketing materials, including use of the Client's name and logo for that limited purpose. RSL/A will not disclose Confidential Information in doing so. The Client may withdraw this permission at any time on written notice, after which RSL/A will stop using the Client's name and logo in new materials within a reasonable period.

19. Third-Party Platforms and Account Standing

RSL/A builds on Third-Party Platforms on an as-is basis. RSL/A is not responsible for changes to third-party APIs, pricing, features, terms of service, or availability. If a Third-Party Platform change materially impairs a delivered integration, RSL/A will propose a workaround or alternative solution, which may be subject to additional fees under a Change Order. RSL/A makes no warranty that any Third-Party Platform will remain available, unchanged, or compatible with previously delivered work.

The Client's platform accounts (including advertising accounts, business profiles, social media accounts, and messaging or email sending infrastructure) belong to the Client, and each platform decides account standing under its own policies. RSL/A is not liable for platform decisions affecting the Client's accounts (including suspensions, bans, restrictions, ad disapprovals, listing removals, deliverability throttling, or verification requirements), whether or not they occur during the engagement. If a platform action materially impairs the Services, RSL/A will propose reasonable remediation or alternative approaches, which may be subject to additional fees; fees for periods in which RSL/A stood ready to perform remain due.

20. Artificial Intelligence Systems

AI-generated outputs deployed as part of the Services (including chatbot, voice agent, and automated communications) are provided as-is. AI systems can produce unexpected, inaccurate, or inappropriate outputs. The Client is solely responsible for reviewing, approving, and monitoring AI agent behavior in production, and for maintaining human oversight and escalation procedures for all AI-facing interactions.

RSL/A is not liable for actions taken by end-users based on AI-generated content, or for inaccuracies in AI responses after deployment, including changes in behavior caused by updates to an AI model by its provider. Where required by applicable law, the Client is responsible for disclosing to end-users that they are interacting with an AI system.

21. Marketing, Communications, and Consent Compliance

This section applies whenever the Services involve outbound communications, contact lists, advertising, or automated messaging (including SMS, email, voice, or chat).

- The Client is solely responsible for compliance with all laws governing marketing and communications, including the Telephone Consumer Protection Act (TCPA), the CAN-SPAM Act, state telemarketing and consent laws, and platform policies.
- The Client represents and warrants that it has obtained and maintains all consents, opt-ins, and permissions required to contact the individuals on any list or audience used in the Services, and that the Client Materials and target audiences are lawfully obtained and used.
- RSL/A provides the technical means to send communications at the Client's direction and does not independently verify the consent status of any contact. The Client directs what is sent and to whom.
- The Client is responsible for the content of approved messages and for honoring opt-out and do-not-contact requests.

22. Client Regulatory Compliance

The Client is responsible for its own legal and regulatory compliance in its industry, including any licensing, advertising, consumer-protection, or data-protection rules that apply to its business. If the Client operates in a regulated field (for example, healthcare, legal, or financial services), the Client is responsible for ensuring that the Services and any data handling meet the requirements of that field. RSL/A is not acting as a HIPAA "business associate" or in any equivalent regulated capacity unless the Parties sign a separate written agreement to that effect, and the Client will not route protected health information or other specially regulated data through the Services without such an agreement in place.

23. Support, Communication, and Service Levels

- RSL/A's standard support hours are Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Pacific Time, excluding U.S. federal holidays.
- RSL/A will respond to support requests sent to team@rsla.io (or another channel agreed in writing) within one (1) business day, and will prioritize issues that materially impair a delivered system.
- Routine maintenance, monitoring, and optimization are included only where the Proposal says so. The Services do not include 24/7 monitoring, emergency response, or uptime guarantees unless expressly stated in the Proposal.

24. Warranty

RSL/A provides a thirty (30) day warranty period following delivery of each project phase. During that period, RSL/A will address any bugs, errors, or deviations from the agreed scope in its own work at no additional cost.

The warranty covers defects in RSL/A's work only. It does not cover:

- Issues caused by Third-Party Platform updates, API changes, or service modifications;
- Changes made by the Client or third parties to delivered work;
- Data quality issues originating from the Client's systems; or
- AI behavior changes resulting from platform or model updates.

Support requests beyond the warranty period are scoped and priced separately. EXCEPT AS EXPRESSLY STATED IN THIS SECTION, THE SERVICES AND DELIVERABLES ARE PROVIDED "AS IS," AND RSL/A DISCLAIMS ALL OTHER WARRANTIES, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING IMPLIED WARRANTIES OF MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE, AND NON-INFRINGEMENT, TO THE FULLEST EXTENT PERMITTED BY LAW.

25. Confidentiality

"Confidential Information" means non-public, proprietary, or business-sensitive information disclosed by one Party to the other in connection with the engagement, whether or not marked confidential, that a reasonable person would understand to be confidential. It does not include information that is or becomes public through no fault of the receiving Party, was already known to the receiving Party without a duty of confidentiality, is independently developed without use of the other Party's Confidential Information, or is rightfully received from a third party.

Each Party will use the other's Confidential Information only to perform or receive the Services and will protect it with at least reasonable care. A Party may disclose Confidential Information if required by law, provided it gives reasonable prior notice where legally permitted. This obligation survives termination of this Agreement for three (3) years, except that trade secrets remain protected for as long as they qualify as trade secrets under applicable law.

26. Data Protection and Security

- RSL/A will handle Client data in compliance with applicable U.S. privacy laws and will not sell Client data or share it with third parties except as needed to perform the Services or as required by law.
- RSL/A will implement commercially reasonable security practices when handling Client credentials and account access.
- As between the Parties, the Client is the owner and controller of the Client data and is responsible for the lawfulness of the data it provides and the instructions it gives.

- If RSL/A becomes aware of a confirmed security breach affecting Client data within RSL/A's control, RSL/A will notify the Client without undue delay and cooperate reasonably in the Client's response. Each Party is responsible for breaches occurring within systems under its own control.

27. Indemnification

By the Client. The Client will defend, indemnify, and hold harmless RSL/A and its owners, personnel, and subcontractors from and against any third-party claims, damages, liabilities, and reasonable costs (including reasonable attorneys' fees) arising out of (a) the Client Materials or content the Client provides or approves; (b) the Client's use or operation of the Deliverables; (c) the Client's violation of the Marketing, Communications, and Consent Compliance section or of any law applicable to the Client's business; (d) outputs of AI systems after the Client's approval or deployment; or (e) the Client's breach of this Agreement.

By RSL/A. RSL/A will defend, indemnify, and hold harmless the Client from and against third-party claims, damages, liabilities, and reasonable costs (including reasonable attorneys' fees) arising out of RSL/A's gross negligence or willful misconduct, or RSL/A's breach of its confidentiality obligations under this Agreement. RSL/A's indemnification obligations are subject to the Limitation of Liability section.

Process. The indemnified Party will promptly notify the indemnifying Party of the claim, allow the indemnifying Party to control the defense and settlement (provided no settlement imposes a non-monetary obligation on the indemnified Party without its consent), and reasonably cooperate at the indemnifying Party's expense.

28. Limitation of Liability

- RSL/A will use commercially reasonable efforts but makes no guarantee of specific results, including rankings, conversions, lead volume, review counts, or advertising performance. Results depend on factors outside RSL/A's control, including algorithm changes, platform policies, competition, and market conditions.
- To the fullest extent permitted by law, neither Party will be liable for indirect, incidental, special, consequential, exemplary, or punitive damages, including lost profits, lost revenue, lost data, or business interruption, regardless of whether the damages were foreseeable or the Party was advised of their possibility.
- To the fullest extent permitted by law, RSL/A's total aggregate liability arising out of or relating to this Agreement and the Services will not exceed the total fees paid by the Client to RSL/A under this Agreement in the twelve (12) months immediately preceding the event giving rise to the claim.
- The exclusions and limits in this section do not apply to the Client's payment obligations, to either Party's indemnification obligations for third-party claims, or to liability that cannot be limited under applicable law. These limits reflect the allocation of risk between the Parties and survive termination.

29. Service Availability and Force Majeure

RSL/A will make reasonable efforts to meet timelines and deliver the Services as agreed. Delays caused by the Client's inaccessibility, Third-Party Platform issues, or events beyond a Party's reasonable control are not a breach of this Agreement. Neither Party is liable for delay or failure to perform (other than payment obligations) caused by events beyond its reasonable control, including SaaS platform outages, API deprecations, third-party service disruptions, internet interruptions, government action, natural disasters, pandemics, or acts of war. The affected Party will notify the other and resume performance as soon as reasonably practicable.

30. Term and Termination

- This Agreement begins on the Effective Date and continues until the Services are complete or it is terminated as provided here.
- Either Party may terminate this Agreement, or any recurring service, on thirty (30) days' written notice.
- Where the Proposal states a minimum term for a service, neither Party may terminate that service for convenience effective before the end of the minimum term. The Client may end it early by paying an early-exit fee equal to the lesser of (a) two (2) months of the recurring fees for that service or (b) fifty percent (50%) of the recurring fees remaining in the minimum term, due on the early-termination date. After the minimum term, the thirty (30) day notice above applies. Termination for material breach is not limited by this provision.
- Either Party may terminate immediately on written notice in the case of the other Party's material breach that remains uncured for ten (10) business days after notice, or immediately for non-payment.
- If termination occurs during an active phase, the full payment for that phase remains due, and no fees are owed for phases not yet started. No prorated refunds are provided for completed or in-progress phases or recurring cycles.

31. Effect of Termination and Survival

On termination, RSL/A will, on request and subject to payment of amounts due, provide the Client reasonable access to retrieve Deliverables held in the Client's own platform accounts. Each Party will return or destroy the other's Confidential Information on request, except for copies retained for legal or routine backup purposes. The following sections survive termination: Fees, Payment Authorization, Chargebacks and Billing Disputes, Late Payment and Suspension, Ownership and Intellectual Property, Confidentiality, Data Protection, Indemnification, Limitation of Liability, Non-Solicitation and Non-Disparagement, Dispute Resolution, Governing Law, and any other provision that by its nature should survive.

32. Non-Solicitation and Non-Disparagement

During the engagement and for twelve (12) months after it ends, the Client will not directly solicit for employment or engagement any individual who performed Services on RSL/A's behalf, without RSL/A's written consent. General job advertisements not targeted at such individuals are not a breach of this section.

Neither Party will make knowingly false or misleading statements about the other intended to harm the other's business reputation. This section does not restrict either Party from making truthful statements, leaving honest reviews, or making statements required by law or in a legal proceeding.

33. Notices

Formal notices under this Agreement, including notices of breach and termination, will be sent by email to the addresses the Parties have on file, with notices to RSL/A sent to team@rsla.io. A notice is deemed received on the date sent if sent during business hours, or on the next business day if sent outside business hours.

34. Dispute Resolution

The Parties will first attempt to resolve any dispute through good-faith discussions. If the dispute is not resolved within thirty (30) days, it will be resolved by final, binding arbitration administered by the American Arbitration Association under its Commercial Arbitration Rules, before a single arbitrator. The seat of arbitration is New York, New York; the arbitrator and the Parties will conduct proceedings by videoconference, telephone, or written submissions wherever practicable, and no Party is required to appear in person without its consent. Judgment on the award may be entered in any court of competent jurisdiction.

- Small claims carve-out. Either Party may instead bring an individual claim that qualifies in a small claims court with jurisdiction over the Parties.
- Class waiver. The Parties waive any right to bring or participate in class or representative claims, and the arbitrator may award relief only on an individual basis.
- Injunctive relief. Either Party may seek temporary or preliminary injunctive relief in court to protect its intellectual property or Confidential Information pending arbitration.
- Costs. Arbitration fees are allocated under the applicable AAA rules, and each Party bears its own attorneys' fees except where this Agreement or applicable law provides otherwise.

35. Governing Law

This Agreement is governed by and construed under the laws of the State of New York, without regard to its conflict-of-law principles. The Parties acknowledge that RSL/A may perform the Services from locations outside New York, and they intend New York law to govern regardless of where either Party is located or where the Services are performed, to the fullest extent permitted by law.

36. General Provisions

Assignment. Neither Party may assign this Agreement without the other's written consent, except that either Party may assign it to a successor in connection with a merger, reorganization, or sale of substantially all of its assets, on written notice.

Amendment. This Agreement may be modified only by a written instrument signed or acknowledged in writing (including by email) by both Parties. No verbal agreement or casual correspondence is a valid amendment.

Waiver. A Party's failure to enforce any provision is not a waiver of its right to enforce that or any other provision later.

Severability. If any provision is held unenforceable or invalid, it will be limited or severed to the minimum extent necessary, and the remaining provisions continue in full force.

No third-party beneficiaries. This Agreement is for the benefit of the Parties only and creates no rights in any third party.

Counterparts. This Agreement may be signed in counterparts, including by electronic copy, each of which is an original and all of which together form one agreement.

Headings. Headings are for convenience only and do not affect interpretation.

Authority. Each person signing or otherwise accepting this Agreement and the Proposal represents that they are authorized to bind the Party for which they act.

Entire agreement. This Agreement, together with the Proposal and any Change Orders, is the entire understanding between the Parties and supersedes all prior discussions, negotiations, or representations on its subject.

37. Electronic Signatures and Execution

The Parties agree that this Agreement and the associated Proposal may be executed by electronic signature, including typed names, click-to-accept, email confirmations, or digital signing tools. Electronic signatures are legally binding and enforceable under the federal Electronic Signatures in Global and National Commerce Act (E-SIGN Act) and applicable state electronic-signature law, including the New York Electronic Signatures and Records Act (ESRA) and the Uniform Electronic Transactions Act as adopted in California.
